HONGKONG, 26th May, 1903.

Some days ago we quoted from an Indian contemporary the statement that the well-known Chinese Reformer, KWANG YU WEI, had been called back to Peking by the EMPEROR and that he left Calcutta for Hongkong on or about the 5th inst.
Consequently he has had time to arrive, though we are unable to learn anything of his presence in Hongkong. We note that some of our Indian contemporaries have made much of the news of his recall, and regard the Reformer as being sufficiently well acquainted with Palace politics at Peking to enable him to brush aside the suggestion of some of his friends that the telegram might be a forgery and that a trap was being laid for him. Upon the death of Yung LU the EMPEROR is stated to have telegraphed to KWANG YU WEI asking him to return immediately to Peking and promising the Reformer his personal protection.
Our readers will remember the circumstances of KWANG YU WEI's connection with Hongkong. When the EMPRESS DOWAGER became usurper of the reins of Government in order to put an end to the EMPEROR's reforming zeal, KWANG YU WEI, who had been the EMPEROR's chief tutor in this connection, had to fly for his life. He was accorded protection by the British authorities, the steamer on which he travelled from Shanghai to Hongkong being escorted by British ships of war.
Here the Reform Leader lived for some time with his family, but the constant fear that his life was in danger at the hands of hired assassins from Canton, constrained him to leave the Colony and travel in other and safer parts of Asia and in Europe. He appears to have been living quietly in Darjiling since last summer, and he is now said to welcome the prospect of returning to active participation in the public affairs of his native land. Living in exile has not been to his liking, and the papers describe him as being delighted at the receipt of the EMPEROR's telegram. There is nothing in the situation in China that we can discover justifying any anticipations of the early restoration of the Reform party to power. The EMPRESS-DOWAGER has shown no desire to leave the direction of affairs to KWANG Hsu, and on the other hand the supposition that the EMPEROR KWANG Hsu would ever have the courage to attempt the supplanting of his august relative is, as one Indian paper remarks, too absurd to be worth a moment's consideration. If KWANG YU WEI has returned, or is returning to China, with any such notions as are attributed to him in the Calcutta papers, we fear he has been grossly deceived; but he would scarcely need to go beyond Hongkong to discover that.

Such is the difficulty which arises with illegible signatures, that orders have now been formally issued for the name and official

Sir William Des Vaux has written the and Mr. Murray will publish it.

The Shanghai Mercury of the 20th says:—
"We learn that every hope to raise the Pembrokeshire from her critical position has been abandoned by the owners, and a telegram of acceptance is being hourly expected from the the vessel last evening and everybody on board was in the best of health."

The next departure in railway enterprise will be the establishment of a system of daily expresses between Vienna and Peking by the Northern Railway. It is expected to begin in July next. There will of course be sleeping and restaurant cars, and tickets will be issued to all the principal stations on the Siberian line and the conjoint Chinese branches. First-class tickets will cost about £35 5s, and second-class £27 12s. 6d.

The celebration of the EMPRESS Dowager's seventieth birthday anniversary which it is proposed by her flatterers shall take place in November next year, it is stated will cost ten million taels at the least computation, says the N.-C. Daily News. Of this proposed sum it is alleged that Lu Ch'uan-lin, in his capacity of President of the Board of Revenue, has succeeded in already laying aside, regardless of the scarcity of money in the Imperial exchequer, no less than four million taels, which is hoarded in the Board of Revenue treasury vaults and which Lu Ch'uan-lin has given stringent orders to his subordinates in charge never to touch, no matter on what pretence, excepting for the celebration in question. It is further stated that something like three million more taels has already been also promised by certain Viceroys, Governors, and Provincial Treasurers who own their several lucrative posts, either through the favouritism of the EMPRESS Dowager, or with the object of retaining more secure in their posts. Indeed, there seems to be no apprehension entertained by the people who are to have charge of the celebration that the money to be required will not be forthcoming, when needed, as officials desiring promotion or seeking preferment would only be too glad to "pay for it"—at the expense of those who do not care to loosen their purse strings.

MOTOR RACING ON THE CONTINENT.

MANY PERSONS KILLED AND INJURED.

LONDON, 25th May.

A motor race from Paris to Madrid started on the 23rd instant with a record number of competitors. A crowd of 300,000 persons witnessed the start which occupied three hours.

LATER.

Between Paris and Bordeaux, the first day's run of the motors from Paris to Madrid, one French, one English competitor, and three chaffeurs were killed; two French competitors and two chaffeurs severely injured, also an Englishman who is now dying; eight persons were run over, four of whom were killed. The Government has stopped the continuation of the race in French territory. A Frenchman named Gabriel covered the course outside the municipal limits at an average speed of 69 miles an hour. An Englishman named Porter was overtaken and burnt to death under the car, and another who was crushed in a collision is dying.

LONDON, 25th May.

The Spanish Government has forbidden motor racing in its territory.

THE LONDON EDUCATION BILL.

LONDON, 25th May.

Mr. Balfour has announced the withdrawal of Clause 2 of the Education Bill, thus leaving the executive control entirely to the County Council and local management to the Borough Councils. This is regarded as weakening the Ministerial position.

JAPANESE ENTERTAINMENT.

The Japanese entertainment which is being given daily at present in a large match on the Praya opposite the Central Market is well worth a visit. It is a large, airy and comfortable building in which the performance is held and the seating accommodation is all that could be desired. As for the programme it is at once clever, abundantly varied, unique and characteristically Japanese. Among the performers are daring acrobats, trapezists and balancees, some of whose feats are as good as can be seen in Barnum's. Outstanding "tunes" also are the Japanese songs and dances and a diving performance in front of the stage in a big tank of water into which girls dive and bring out fish.
The entertainment is given both in the afternoon and in the evening.

THE YUNNAN REBELLION.

An Imperial decree has been issued, says the N.-C. Daily News of the 23rd, cashiering a number of civil and military officials of Yunnan for inability to prevent rebel bands capturing the prefecture city of Lin-an, Yunnan province.
Ting Ch'iao-tse, Viceroy of the Yung Kwei provinces, and Lin Shao-nien, Governor of Yunnan, are handed to the Board for determination of adequate penalties for neglect of duty in not preserving the peace in Yunnan.
Foreigners in Yunnan and those engaged in laying the railway there are specially ordered to be protected from all harm in the disturbed province. In the meanwhile the high officials of Yunnan are to use their best endeavours to crush the rebellion and reclaim their tarnished names. The Viceroy (Ting Ch'iao-tse) and Governor (Lin Shao-nien) are to be held responsible for the suppression of the rebellion in Yunnan.

THE TWO "SHAMROCKS."

A naval architect who had a careful look over Shamrock III. and Shamrock I. while they were in dry dock at Southampton last month gives to a London contemporary his impressions as follows:—The appearance of the challenger, more especially in regard to her fore-body, gave me an impression of bluffness—that is, the bow water lines appear too rounded, and the angle of entrance to obtuse for great speed.

Doubtless the bow lines have been made round and full to secure the necessary displacement of fore-body to carry the great weight of mast and gear, the length of water lines being so greatly shortened by the extreme cutting away of the fore-foot, now so fashionable; but it might have been possible, and even advantageous, to place the mast a little farther aft, or to lengthen the fore under-body, by not cutting away the fore-foot so much. The after-body water lines might, I think, also with advantage, be somewhat flatter, securing a better "delivery." The midship, transverse, and other sections are quite different in this year's challenger to those of Shamrock I., and decidedly easier, with much less hollow, especially from amidships aft, but the bow or entrance water lines of the older vessel appear to be finer, and altogether better than those of the new vessel. The general appearance of Shamrock III. may be said to be somewhat "stubby," rounded, and powerful—of the typical "John Bull" type. Considering the extreme lightness of all the rigging fittings, it is no wonder that these vessels get dismantled; and, after all, the saving in weight secured thereby is only fractional.

SUPREME COURT.

Wednesday, 27th May.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR A. G. WISE (PUNISH JUDGE).BREWSTER AND CO. v. PORTLAND AND ASIATIC CO.

An action was called in which W. Brewer & Co. sued the Portland and Asiatic Company for $800 damages in respect of the non-fulfilment by the defendants of a certain written undertaking dated 7th May, 1902, given by the defendants to the plaintiffs and others, in consideration of which the plaintiffs allowed the s.s. Indravelli to leave Hongkong with certain goods laden on board belonging to and consigned to T. W. Hindmarsh who was then and still is indebted to the plaintiffs for goods sold and delivered. This undertaking was to the effect that the defendants in consideration of Messrs. Fung Wa Chun, Tak Cheong, W. Brewer & Co., Wong Hing and the Mutual Stores, who were stated to be creditors of T. W. Hindmarsh and to be taking proceedings to recover the amounts due and who intended to seize by the order of the Supreme Court of Hongkong goods belonging to T. W. Hindmarsh already laden on board the s.s. Indravelli (leaving on the day on which the undertaking was given), not insisting on their discharging such goods from the ship before she left Hongkong, the defendant undertook to hold such goods subject to the order of the Supreme Court of Hongkong to satisfy any judgment and costs awarded against T. W. Hindmarsh. Defendants stipulated, however, that claimants' lawyers (Messrs. Johnson, Stokes & Master) must produce the necessary order of the Court to protect defendants in their holding on the other side.

Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., barrister-at-law (instructed by Mr. John Hays, of Messrs.
Johnson, Stokes and Master, solicitors), appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. M. W. Slade, barrister-at-law (instructed by Mr. E. J. Crist of Messrs. Wilkinson & Crist, solicitors), was for the defendants.

Mr. Pollock stated that on 7th May plaintiffs brought an action against T. W. Hindmarsh for $26.95 for goods sold and delivered, and a writ of foreign attachment was subsequently issued against defendants in the present case, as garnishees for the seizure of T. W. Hindmarsh's property with a view to satisfying this claim.
In pursuance of this writ plaintiffs threatened to seize 26 cases of goods already shipped on the Indravelli by T. W. Hindmarsh but consented to refrain from unloading the goods on condition of getting the letter of undertaking given above.
The contention of the plaintiffs was that the document amounted to an absolute undertaking on behalf of the defendants with regard to the 26 cases of goods which had been shipped on board the Indravelli and in respect of which they had delivered to Hindmarsh bills of lading.
The question was, To what did the undertaking refer? Mr. Pollock produced correspondence which he contended showed that the goods referred to in the undertaking were clearly understood by the defendant company as being the 26 packages of goods shipped by T. W.
Hindmarsh on board the Indravelli. The reason for the giving of that undertaking was, as Mr.
Allan Cameron in a letter put it in rather colloquial language, that if it had not been given they would have had to "rook" down to the bottom of the hold in order to unload these 26 cases and that would have caused delay.
Plaintiffs said the true intent and meaning of the undertaking was that the defendants undertook to hold these 26 cases of goods subject to the order of the Supreme Court of Hongkong as to the production of copies of the writs of foreign attachment, on 17th July Mr. Wilgress, then acting manager of the defendant company, called upon Mr. Hays and said they wanted to be supplied with copies of the orders of the Court mentioned in the undertaking. Mr.
Hays was under the impression that he actually produced and showed to Mr. Wilgress the writs of foreign attachment, and on 18th July Messrs.
Johnson, Stokes & Master sent a letter to the defendant company enclosing copies of these writs.
The copies were accepted by the defendants as sufficient, apparently, at the time to comply with the terms of the undertaking. In their answers the defendants denied that the 26 cases of goods, with the exception of a portion which had been already offered to the plaintiffs and refused by them, belonged to T. W. Hindmarsh; they admitted giving the undertaking, and the receipt of the copies of the writs of foreign attachment; but said that the goods were removed to Oregon, U.S.A., where in a suit instituted in the Circuit Court by K. J. Hind-marsh and T. W. Hindmarsh against defendants in this case it was decreed that none of the said goods except the portion thereof already referred to were the property of T. W. Hindmarsh; that the plaintiffs in breach of the express condition in the undertaking had neglected to procure or obtain any order of the Court effectual to enable the defendants to hold the goods in Oregon and that they were accordingly compelled to part with possession of them. The plaintiffs contended upon that point was that that decree of the American Court furnished no defence as to this action, that was to say, was irrelevant to the present matter. The undertaking was an absolute, unqualified undertaking as set up in the statement of claim; and as a contract to be construed lex loci of Hongkong.

Formal evidence was taken for the plaintiffs.

Mr. Slade in opening the case for the defendants said the other side had failed to prove damage; unless it was proved that his client's judgment had not been satisfied he had no action.

His Lordship said he did not think it had been specifically proved but he would not stop the case for that.

Mr. Slade went on to say that the plaintiffs had never issued execution to obtain their judgment and costs. It was admitted in the pleadings that the defendants had in their hands a certain portion of the 26 cases of goods, belonging to T. W. Hind-marsh. Plaintiffs having refused to accept that portion and not having issued execution against them and, therefore, not having ascertained what these goods were, could not say that the goods were not amply sufficient to satisfy their judgment and costs.
It was perfectly clear that there could be no damage done merely by the fact that they obtained judgment and did nothing with it. If they had issued execution and failed to obtain satisfaction they would have suffered damage.

His Lordship asked on whom they were going to serve execution?

Mr. Slade said it should be served on T.
W. Hindmarsh. The defendants had in their hands a certain amount of the goods. They had offered to have that over but plaintiffs refused to receive it. Under this undertaking the defendants were not liable as the plaintiffs claimed. They only undertook to hold goods belonging to T. W. Hindmarsh, not to satisfy any judgment of the Court of Hongkong, but subject to the order of the Court to satisfy any judgment—the necessary result of an application to the Court to determine whether the goods in the hands of the garnishees were liable to satisfy the plaintiffs' claim. From the words in the undertaking, "You shall, however, produce the necessary order of the Court to protect us in our holding on the other side," it was perfectly clear that the defendants anticipated that some action would be taken on the bill of lading to get the goods out of their hands. The meaning was obviously: "We will be responsible for these goods and hold them subject to an order of the Court if you only protect us on the other side when we get to America." Mr. Cameron did not specify for writs of foreign attachment but for orders of the Court sufficient to protect him on the other side. The claim showed that the plaintiffs relied on the writ of foreign attachment instead of going and getting a determination of this Court that the goods in the cases were T. W.
Hindmarsh's. If they had got that it would probably have had an effect in the American Court. These goods were in fact taken by the judgment of the Court in America. He proposed to put in that record, under which the defendants were compelled to hand over the goods by reason of the plaintiffs not having produced the necessary order of the Court to protect them.

Mr. Pollock objected to the admission of the American judgment.

His Lordship said that his view was that it might be put in as evidence that the American Court had done this, that or the other. But that would not affect his judgment.

Mr. Pollock submitted that it could not come in on the ground of irrelevancy; this being an absolute contract it would be irrelevant for the American Courts to come in whatever they decided.

His Lordship asked if that would not be shutting out evidence that the other side would be entitled to put in, showing the reason why certain of the goods had not come? He would simply take it as evidence that the defendants had been stopped in some way or another from sending these goods.

Mr. Slade said the next point in the defence was that they had not been protected in their holding on the other side. The writs of foreign attachment were not sufficient to cover all the goods contained in these 26 cases, though quite sufficient to cover a portion. As the orders were only sufficient to protect a portion, the defendants were liable only in respect of that portion on which they were protected on the other side. Finally he submitted that on the plaintiffs lay the onus of proof that the goods on board were the goods of T. W.
Hindmarsh and of that they had given no evidence at all except that they were shipped for T. W. Hindmarsh. He submitted also that he was entitled to use the record of the American Court as evidence as to what contents of the boxes did in fact belong to T. W.
Hindmarsh, he having been a joint party in the case.

Mr. Pollock having replied,
His Lordship said he would reserve judgment.
The Court adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday 27th May.

BEFORE MR. F. A. HAZELAND (POLICE MAGISTRATE.)

THE HOK UN ROBBERY.

Two of the five natives arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the armed robbery at 149, Hok Un on Sunday afternoon last were formally charged and remanded. The other three are not to undergo prosecution, the case against them not being deemed conclusive enough to warrant proceedings.

OBTAINING MONEY BY FALSE PLEDGES.

A Chinese lad was going to school the other morning, when he had the misfortune to lose under circumstances that need not be dilated upon a certain part of his apparel. He began to cry, and was approached by a kind-looking native with a fatherly air who enquired:—"Little boy, what is the matter with you? why do you cry?" The little boy explained, and the kind-looking native with the fatherly air said:— "That's all right. Don't cry any more. Tell me your name and address, and I'll go to your mother and get her to make everything all right." The distressed youngster sobbed out the desired particulars, and his benefactor departed in haste on his errand of charity.
Arrived at the house, he saw the boy's parent and shocked his maternal feelings by a fictitious recital of wrong-doing on the part of her son.
According to this tale, the boy had gone up to a hawk to buy some ice-cream. Between the two a dispute arose, and the upshot was the assaulting of the ice-cream vendor by the son and another lad who lent a hand to his school-mate. "The hawk's head has been broken," went on the pig-tailed Ananias, "and your son has been fined $2, the other boy $5, and the whole school $15. Your son wants the amount of his fine and the schoolmaster $2 to help pay the penalty that through his conduct has been imposed on the school." The four dollars were handed over, and the man departed. The boy waited long at the appointed rendezvous for the reappearance of his good friend, but he never returned, and the lad ultimately retraced his steps homeward. His arrival there brought about a revelation of the smart trick that had been played, and the police were communicated with. They succeeded in arresting the betrayer of confidences, who was sent to prison for one month with hard labour.

A WHIPPING.

Twelve strokes of the birch and forty-eight hours' detention in goal was the punishment meted out to an enterprising youth, who stole over thirty dollars' worth of clothing from a store in Aberdeen.

BEFORE MR. J. H. KEMP (ACTING POLICE

THEFT OF AMMUNITION.

On the complaint of Sergeant John Hunt, Army Ordnance Department, Su. Wong Chung, a coolie, was charged with stealing 424 rounds of various kinds of ammunition, the property of the Crown and valued at $15, between 1st April and 3rd May instant. He pleaded not guilty.

Evidence showed that a lukong arrested a Chinese man carrying a bundle which he could not satisfactorily enough explain the possession of. Opened at the Police Station, the bundle was found to contain ammunition. The prisoner gave a detailed account of how he came by it, and from his statement the ammunition was traced to the Ordnance Department and the defendant, an outside coolie employed in the Ordnance store, arrested.

The defendant sought to fix the blame on the native who was first placed in custody.
This man, he said, met him in the street one day, and, after learning where he was employed, asked:—"Why don't you steal some ammunition?" The defendant was not inclined to fall in with the idea, and the other told him that he had a friend in the Ordnance store who regularly stole ammunition and made a good thing by selling it to a dealer in Canton. It was this friend, the defendant averred, who stole the ammunition, and not he.

Despite this specious story, his Worship found the charge proved and passed sentence of two months' imprisonment with hard labour.

HOUSEBREAKING.

Two months' hard labour was also the sentence passed upon Chiu Mak Tai, who broke into a shop at 270, Queen's Road Central and stole a pair of shoes valued at $5.

PORTUGUESE SENT TO PRISON.

A Portuguese bar-tender at the "Land We Live In" Hotel was charged by the proprietor, Adolf Freumann, with stealing $24.60. The accusation was denied.

The complainant deposed that he gave the defendant an advance note for $24.60 to be collected at the Sailors' Home. The defendant was away for such a length of time that the complainant went to the Sailors' Home and found that the money had been duly collected.
From the Home the complainant, making a shrewd guess at the course the defendant would follow, went to the Canton wharf, and on a steamer which was soon departing for Macao came across his man, whom he arrested and transferred to the custody of a policeman.

The defendant said he was a deserter from the Macao police. He was returning to the Portuguese colony to give himself up, and intended sending the balance of the $24.60, after he had paid for his passage, back to the complainant.
One month hard labour.

THE OFFICIAL MURDER BY CHINESE IN HONGKONG.

Commenting on the recent trial in Hongkong of the murderer of Yeung Kue Wan, the Chinese reformer, the N.C. Daily News says:—Satisfactory as it is to see that the actual instrument of the savage duplicity of the authorities at Canton has been caught and will be punished, it is to be hoped that sooner or later his superiors who commissioned and paid him will be made to feel the weight of England's displeasure. Successive Governors of Hongkong have been much too complaisant, much too ready to believe the smiling assurances of friendship in which the Chinese authorities at Canton have been wont to indulge; but the most philo-Chinese Governor must have his indignation aroused when he finds British territory violated by paid assassins sent to kill or kidnap men who have come to take refuge under the British flag, and whose only crime is the endeavour to improve the political system of their country. It was a warning sent from the Government at Hongkong that enabled the authorities at Canton to take steps to suppress the last intended rising there, and the gratitude of those authorities for the goodwill always displayed by the British colony is shown by the dispatch to that colony of emissaries with orders to kill or kidnap reformers. Justice has shown her bare foot in her pursuit of the murderer of Yeung Kue Wan, but she has come up with him at last. The incident should be taken to heart by the Hongkong Government. Amiable as the authorities at Canton may seem, and apparently anxious to keep on the friendly terms with the British colony at their doors, the old Adam is not eradicated, and to serve their ends they will descend to ways that are dark, without any regard to international comity, or the disgrace involved in the commission of the blackest crimes.

SOCIETY IN HONGKONG.

AS OTHERS SEE US.
In a book by Captain Gordon Chesley, entitled The Land of the Bixers, just published by Longmans & Co., there is an interesting chapter on Hongkong, from which we extract the following:—

Society in Hongkong is less official than in India, where almost every male is to be found in either the Army or the Civil Service List. The Governor and the General are, of course, the leaders, and in a small way represent Royalty in the colony. The merchant class is supreme, and their wives rule society; naval and military people being regarded as mere birds of passage in a city where Europeans practically settle for life, and England seems a very far-off country indeed. Altogether life in Hongkong is of a more provincially English character than it is in India. The warm-hearted hospitality of the Anglo-Indian has but a faint echo in this very British colony. One is not brought into such daily contact with friends and acquaintances. In every station, large and small, throughout the length and breadth of Hindustan there is always a club which acts as the rallying-place of European Society. Ladies as well as men assemble there in the afternoons when the sun is setting, and polo, tennis, and cricket are over for the day. The fair inhabitants of the station sit on the lawn, dispense tea to their friends, talk scandal, or flirt; while their husbands play whist, bridge, and billiards, or gather in jovial groups round the bar and discuss the events of the day. But in Hongkong, despite the large European population, there is no similar institution or gathering-place. The clubs are sterner reserved for men. Save at an occasional race meeting or gymkhana, one never sees all the white inhabitants assembled together. In the summer the climate is far too hot for indoor social functions. Even tennis parties are too exhausting. So hospitable hostesses substitute for their "At Homes" weekly mixed bathing parties; and in the comparative cool of the afternoons gay groups gather on the piers near the Club and embark on the trim steam launches that lie in shoals alongside. Then they go to some sandy bay along the coast, where makeshifts have been erected to serve as bathing-boxes for the ladies, who go ashore and bathe themselves for the water. The gentlemen of the party don their swimming costumes in the cabin of the launch, and, plunging overboard, make their way to the beach to join their fair companions. When tired of bathing, the ladies retire to the makeshift, the men to the launch. Then, dressed again and reunited, all steam back to Hongkong, refreshing themselves with tea and drinks on the way. This is the favorite form of amusement in Hongkong society during the summer. In the cold weather dances at Government House, Headquarter House (the General's residence), and in the City Hall are frequent; and theatrical companies from England and Australia occupy the theatre. Pantomime, walking or by lantern, to the many charming spots to be found on the island or the mainland are given. Polo, racing, cricket, tennis, and golf are in full swing; and, as the climate during winter is cold and bracing, life is very pleasant in the colony then. To the newly-arrived naval or military officer, society in Hongkong is full of pitfalls and surprises. The English merchant or lawyer overseas is usually a very good fellow, though occasionally puffed up by the thought of his boasted moneybags; but his wife is often a less amiable example of British snobbery, the spirit of which has entered into her soul in the small country town or London suburb from which she came. Society in the boarding-houses of West Kensington is a bad preparation for the rôle of grande dame in the hospitable East. And so the naval or military officer, accustomed to broader lines of social demarcation in England, is puzzled and amused at the minute and a difference in Hongkong society. He fails to see why Mrs. A., whose spouse exports tea, is to be considered quite of the haut ton of the colony; while Mrs. B., whose husband imports cigars, and who is by birth and breeding a better man than A., is not to be called on.

"Big Bess has little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em. And little Bess have lesser fleas, and so, ad infinitum."

And Hongkong looks down on Kowloon with all the well-born contempt of Belgravia for Brixton, and even in the despised suburb on the mainland these social differences are not wanting. The wives of the superior dock employees are the leaders of Kowloon society; and the better half of a ship captain or marine engineer is only admitted on sufferance to their exclusive circle. When the first Indian troops to strengthen the garrison of Hongkong in 1800 arrived, they were quartered in Kowloon; where the presence of a number of strange young officers, who dashed about their quiet suburb on fiery Arabs and completely eclipsed the local dandies, caused a flutter in the hearts of anxious mothers and indignant husbands. The fires of civilian prejudice against the military burned fiercely, and I verily believe that many of the inhabitants of Kowloon would have preferred an invasion of ferocious Chinese.

CHINA'S CURRENCY.

The representation of the United States on the international monetary commission, which is to consider the Mexican-Chinese proposals, has been completed by the appointment of Mr. Hugh H. Hanna, of Indianapolis, as a member. The other delegates to serve on the commission will be Mr. Charles A. Conant and Prof. Jeremiah W. Jenks. Both of the latter gentlemen have become familiar with conditions in America's new possessions, and in the Far East generally, and Mr. Hanna has held a prominent relation to movements for currency reform in the United States. The object of the commission, as has been explained, is to devise some plan for bringing about a more stable relation between gold and silver in exchange, between countries employing the different standards. No effort, says Bradstreet, is to be made to bring about international bimetalism, and it is not proposed that the United States shall make any change in its existing currency system. Indeed, it is suggested that if the plan proposed can be carried out it will be a long step toward the gold standard, and will have the great advantage of making secure the investment of European and American capital in the silver-using countries and affording a wider market for manufactured goods. So far the plans as to procedure are largely tentative, though the main outlines of the project have been pretty thoroughly canvassed. The first step will be a conference in London in May with representatives of the British Government. It so happens that a number of officials in the colonial service are at present engaged in considering monetary plans for the British possessions in the East, and it is naturally believed that an interchange of views with these gentlemen will be of much interest. After that the members of the commission will visit Paris, where a similar gathering is in session, and subsequently Berlin and St. Petersburg. What is sought at present is not so much a formal treaty to bind the various governments as the bringing about of a general understanding which will result in co-operation through legislation by the various countries acting along concerted lines, though independently.

CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

A SENSATIONAL NEW TREATMENT.

A paper read at the Medical Congress at Madrid by Dr. von Schrötter, the eminent professor at the University of Vienna, on a new method of treating the lungs by means of inhalation, is causing no little stir in the scientific world in Europe. After adhering to the growing belief in the curability of tuberculosis and to the soundness of its treatment by inhalation, the eminent laryngologist, in his lecture, criticises the ordinary inhaling apparatus, which he points out has been shown to fail to carry the medicated liquid beyond, at most, the upper parts of the lungs, thus leaving the lower parts unaffected by the healing agent. He considers that the problem of reaching the whole of the lungs has been solved by the inhaling apparatus invented by Dr. Bulling. By this apparatus the therapeutic liquid is "atomised" so finely as to pass into the remotest parts of the lungs. The professor does not hesitate to declare that this apparatus is the only one in existence by which this result can be accomplished. The procedure is based on the use of compressed air, which is freed from both dust and germs by being passed through a filter of cotton wool. Then, highly compressed, the air passes on to a specially constructed "atomiser," which reduces the liquid for inhalation to quite small drops. But as they are still too large to enter the finer bronchial tubes, or the air cells, currents of compressed air are driven into the vapour that has been created, and this subdivides the drops again so minutely that their diameter is only 0.0006 millimetres, or about 500 times less than that of the ends of the bronchioles, the capillary tubes which open into clusters of air chambers.

At the congress Professor von Schrötter showed a portable Bulling apparatus, such as might be used in any private house; and finally he pointed out that perhaps this new procedure will in time be extended to the whole organism, and be employed in certain affections of the nerves, possibly, also, in cases of heart disease.

TO REDUCE THE TEA DUTY.

All, he said, desired greater speed and lower prices. He preferred to send mails in British ships; but, if the Siberian Railway offered a superior regular service, we should be obliged to utilise it. He was now communicating with the authorities with a view to a trans-Siberian service to Peking and the Far East, but no agreement had yet been reached.

THE CANTEN QUESTION.

They emphasise the necessity for promoting the social and moral welfare of the soldier, and are particularly anxious to discourage drinking. The War Office, which is unable to accept the main recommendations, intends to issue fresh Canteen Regulations.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

A correspondent of the N.C. Daily News writing from Wuchang says:—

In China, quarrels between man and wife are too common to excite remark, though often leading to tragic results. On the other hand the process of courtship is businesslike and seldom interrupted, while with us it has become a maxim that "the course of true love never did run smooth." The reason for this contrast is not far to seek. With us personal courtship affords some guarantee for a life of happiness; with the Chinese it is done through third parties; and the young people never meet face to face prior to the wedding day. How could there be in this initial stage any of those broken vows that lead to broken hearts. The following story may serve to answer this question. I had it from a young man of fine talents, whom for a short time I employed as a writer. His father is a brigadier-general, who has long been in camp at a post on the frontier, his mother and sister remaining at home. The young lady who was the victim in this case possessed the rare accomplishments of poetry and music, and that she was beautiful goes without saying. Her hand was sought by the son of a Taoist. The contract papers accompanied by betrothal gifts were exchanged early last spring, but scarcely a month had elapsed before the youth reported that his father had promised him to the daughter of a Taoist in Kwangsi. As he had not backbone enough to stand by his first engagement he should hardly regard him as worthy of a tear or a sigh. He had never entered into conversation with his first fiancée; nor had she seen him except in stolen glimpses through screen or curtain. Yet was her heart engaged and she was wearing a betrothal ring. Hearing of the faithlessness of her lover (if we may call him so) she tore the ring from her finger, chopped it in small pieces and swallowed them. In an hour she was a corpse.

Her brother has not tent a challenge to the recreant suitor, but he proposes to erect a monument to his victim, which cannot fail to make his infamy eternal. He is getting out a small volume of the consols of this hapless damsel who had she lived longer might have become well known as an Oriental Sappho.

REVIEWS.

Proverb and Common Sayings from the Chinese, together with much related and unrelated matter interspersed with Observations on Chinese Things in General. American Presbyterian Mission Press, Shanghai.

Such is the long name, as given on the title-page, of the Rev. Mr. Smith's revised edition of his useful work on Chinese Proverbs. The book, according to the intentions of the author, should have been not only revised, but also considerably enlarged. For this purpose, he had gathered vast material—5 volumes' containing between 8,000 and 9,000 Chinese proverbs and sayings—which was unfortunately burnt at the destruction of the Methodist Church in Peking. With our knowledge of the author's diligence and clearness, and with the present volume before us, we must sincerely regret that so much useful work was lost, probably irreparably. Considering how relatively little has been done for the vast literature of China by the forerunners of the present volume, the proverbs of the nation may be considered to have fared well, as they have been successively treated by Doolittle, Scarborough and Smith. The latter grows eloquent in the praise of his subject, and though we may not perhaps admire proverbs and popular sayings for their meanings, as one can always be found to support any opinion or favour any view, still they are invaluable to the student of languages, giving him terse and colloquial expressions for the current thought of the people. In Chinese, proverbs and popular sayings are especially useful, not only for a fluent and idiomatic use of the colloquial, but also for the written language where many of them were used long before they had become familiar to the people; besides, Chinese thought, expressed either in speech or in writing, has a certain conventional arrangement, generally unusual to the western mind. Long and constant training is required for gaining familiarity with these verbal adjustments, and the book under review furnishes a carefully arranged collection of phrases adapted to the purpose.

Leslie Farquhar. By ROSALINE MASSON.

London: John Murray, Albemarle Street W. SMACKING OF SCOTCH HIGHLAND LIFE, filled with an atmosphere redolent of heather and the sweet smells of the hills, Leslie Farquhar is a book in which the reader finds himself confronted with a set of characters the influence of whom upon the lives of one another make up a most interesting story. Leslie is a thoroughly practical girl "with the bonniest eyes in the world." She makes a capital foil for the romantically-minded Malise Ogilvy, who sees the land of the Gael only as through a glass half-obscured in the mists of tradition and hoary legend. The other characters are depicted with considerable forcefulness; the tale is well-told, wholesome and eminently readable. Messrs. Kelly & Walsh have the novel on sale.

WESTERN ASSURANCE CO.

Messrs. V. M. Meyerink & Co., local agents of the above Company, send us a copy of the annual report for 1902. It shows that the net premiums received during the year from all departments of the Company's business amount to £708,615 1s. 1d., being an increase of £32,510 7s. 9d. over those of 1901. The net loss, including provision for those under adjustment, are £442,064 15s. 10d., being £2,605 18s. 8d. less than those of last year. The revenue account shows a balance of income over expenditure, available for distribution, of £20,340 15s. 2d., which has been appropriated as follows:—Dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. on the capital stock of the Company £24,205 5s. 5d.; written off the Company's building and furniture £3,080 1s. 8d.; written off investments of the Company to bring them to the actual market value at the 31st day of December £8,464 17s. 7d.; addition to reserve fund £16,590 10s. 6d.

At the annual meeting at which this report was submitted, the President (Hon. George A. Cox) said in the course of his remarks:—The British and foreign business of the Company, transacted through the branch office established in London, England, three years ago, has made gratifying progress, fully realising the expectations which were entertained at the time it was decided to extend the operations of the Company beyond the limits of this Continent. I feel that we were particularly fortunate in the selection of Mr. W. B. Meikle as manager of that branch, the work he has accomplished affording proof of his energy and sound judgment as an underwriter. I must also avail myself of this opportunity of expressing the obligation which we feel the Company is under to the Chairman of the London Board, the Earl of Aberdeen, and his co-directors, Sir John H. Kennaway and Mr. James Stevenson, who have taken a deep interest in, and contributed much to, the success which has been achieved at the London branch office.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES AND NEWS.

UNFORTUNATE BARONETS.

There is, besides Sir William Macgregor and Sir Thomas O'Connor Moore, another baronet in a somewhat lowly position. Sir Thomas Ehlin, a sixth baronet of an Irish creation of 1721, entered the Royal Irish Constabulary as a sub-constable, was in due course promoted to the rank of constable, and is now a clerk in the Constabulary Office, Dublin.

THE CRICKET SEASON.

Ranjit Singh contributes an interesting article on the coming cricket season to the Telegraph.
In regard to the relative chances of the various countries in the championship contests, the following is his forecast of the order in which they are likely to stand at the close of the season:—Yorkshire, 1; Lancashire, 2; Nottingham, Sussex, 3; Kent, Middlesex, Warwickshire, Somerset, 4; Essex, Leicestershire, Gloucestershire, Derbyshire, 6. Ranjit Singh denies the report that there is to be any change in the Sussex captaincy this season.

SUGAR.

Sugar was the outcome of Moorish civilization. The Crusader brought back with him the "sweet powder" the children loved. It was long posterior to the Grecian and Roman civilization, to say nothing of those of Egypt and Assyria, that sugar as such was made in any quantity. The sugar cane was known to the Chinese at a very early period, and was introduced into the island of Cyprus from the interior of Asia but its introduction into the West Indies, not long after this discovery, was the practical commencement of the production of sugar as an article of commerce.

THE WILL OF A FAMOUS FRENCHWOMAN.
A human document of particular charm and interest is the "last will and testament" of Madame de Maintenon, now for the first time printed in the Revue de l'Histoire de Versailles.
The original of this document is still in existence, and one recalls at the mention of the white envelope containing the one word Testament in Madame de Maintenon's handwriting, how, after writing it a few days before her death, with trembling hand, she turned to Mlle. d'Anville and said with a bright smile, "This is still rather firm writing." Some 30,000 francs —that was all which the most admired and celebrated lady of the brilliant Court of Louis XIV left. Half of this sum was absorbed in small legacies; the other half went, good bourgeois fashion, to her nieces, her nearest relatives.

PRACTICE AT GOLF.

In his amusing book on the Art of Golf, the late Sir Walter Simpson observes that, looking out from the clubhouse (any clubhouse) about starting-time in the morning, you are sure to see sundry golfers "teaching themselves crippled swings"—that is to say, loosening their muscles with some practice swings at daisies or at nothing. It all helps. There is the traditional man who says, "Eh, I'm a pairfied mairvel at swinging at a daisy and sic like; but when it comes to the ball—oh, lor!" There are many of whom this candid critic of himself is the type.
Lord Wellwood, in his chapter in the Balminton book, talks of the terrible vice inertia of the golf-ball. And though this is, perhaps, exaggerated by an indubitable inside, still we all know what it means, writes Mr. Horace Hatchinson in the Westminster Gazette.

AN ART SCANDAL.

The exhibition for the present season of the artists at the Royal Academy is considered the best that has occurred for many years (we quote from the Times of April 15, 1903). In the course of lauding the pictures a very singular circumstance happened, which is the subject of general conversation among the professors and amateurs. By the rule and practice of the Institution no picture is allowed to be received, which has at any former exhibition been offered to the judgment of the public. Among the productions of art, however, lately sent to Somerset House, was a large historical picture from the pencil of the President, representing "Ragnar and Ismael in the Wilderness." This picture was immediately recognised and challenged by one of the members of the Council.
It stated that it was originally painted for Lord Cremorne, and publicly exhibited in the year 1776. Upon the front, however, of the picture was written in strong characters, according to the usual practice of the artist, his name, together with the date, 1803; and, upon the faith of this inscription, it was determined that the performance should be received. Some doubts, however, still remaining, the catalogues were inspected, and it was found that a painting, descriptive of the same story, had been exhibited by Mr. West in 1776. This led to a second and more minute examination of the picture; the result of which was that the date 1776 was discovered in an obscure corner imperfectly obliterated. The members of the Council, indignant at the deception, regarded each other for some time in silent astonishment.
At length it was resolved that the Secretary should write to the President, requesting him to withdraw the performance.

"A DISTURBANCE OF THE TRAFFIC."

To be arrested on a charge of holding one's skirts too high on a rainy day suggests, of course, America. Joplin, Missouri, was the precise scene of the incident, and Miss Flo Russell, its victim or heroine. It was charged against her, quite in the Addisonian style, that the height at which she held them created enough commotion to amount to a disturbance of traffic. Her youth and prettiness, if they did not aggravate the offence, did aggravate the commotion; and a policeman arrested her.
Miss Russell, in her defence, said that she was wearing a new and particularly handsome silk petticoat, and other "things" equally new and equally handsome, and that she held her skirt just high enough to prevent them from being muddled, but not an inch higher. To clinch the matter, she had come dressed in the identical clothes, and was ready, if the judge desired, to give a demonstration in court. The judge, of course, jumped at it; a space was cleared, and the court became so unjudiciously fascinated with the performance that it took him fifteen minutes to discharge her, with apologies. And so progress continues, even in America.

MR. KRUGER'S MISUNDERSTANDING.

A Birmingham correspondent, who wrote to Mr. Chamberlain as to the cause of the South African War, has received the following reply through the right hon. gentleman's private secretary:—"It is true that the war was caused primarily by the ultimatum and the invasion of British territories. Looking back further, it was due to the desire of the Boer leaders to maintain a position of superiority throughout South Africa as explained in Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Southampton, but it is also true to say that the war would never have taken place had there been a better understanding. If, for instance, Mr. Kruger had understood the powers of this country, if he had understood that the stories of Continental assistance were untrue, and if he had understood that the Cape colonists would not rise in general rebellion, it is certain that there would have been no war.
This explanation will enable you to see that the war may be described as due either to its immediate cause, or to the misunderstanding which was behind that cause."

AT NO TIME IS MAN SECURE FROM ATTACKS

Of such disorders of the stomach as cholera morbus, cramps and diarrhoea; but these complaints are common during the heated term when it is dangerous to neglect them. Painkiller is a remedy that has never failed and the severest attacks have been cured by it. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis. [298-15]
